MLA (Modern Language Association) style is most commonly used to write papers and cite sources within the liberal arts and humanities. This resource, updated to reflect the MLA Handbook (8th ed.), offers examples for the general format of MLA research papers, in-text citations, endnotes/footnotes, and the Works Cited page. When you are gathering book sources, be sure to make note of the following bibliographic items: the author name(s), other contributors such as translators or editors, the bookâ€™s title, editions of the book, the publication date, the publisher, and the pagination.Â Essentially, a writer will need to take note of primary elements in every source, such as author, title, etc. and then assort them in a general format.
