
Start by marking "Children's Encounters with Death, Bereavement, and Coping" as Want to Read: Want to Read saving… Want to Read.  Children struggling with death-related issues require care and competent assistance from the adults around them. This book serves as a guide for care providers, including counselors, social workers, nurses, educators, clergy, and parents who seek to understand and help children as they attempt to cope with loss. This book comprehensively discusses death and grieving within the context of the physical, emotional, social, behavioral, spiritual, and cognitive changes that children experience while coping with death. Then to children leaving home; [Show full abstract] and finally to bereavements and death. Alongside these and other major life events people are having to learn to cope with the passage from one stage of personal development to another: adolescence, early adulthood, stabilization, mid-life transition and restabilization. Read more. Article. Using Books To Help Children and Adolescents Cope With Death: Guidelines and Bibliography. Charles A Corr. Guidelines We now have at hand a large and growing body of books about issues related to dying, death, and bereavement for child and adolescent "For the resource that offers one of the best bibliographies and guides to resources, for the book that contains theory, definitions, treatment modalities, helps, warnings, integration of people and programs, cultural diversity when it comes to all of this, we turn to Charles A. Corr and David E. Balk, editors of Children's Encounters with Death, Bereavement and Coping. It is a book you must have on your shelf, but don't let it sit there for too long without making good use of it."