The Letter to Philemon is the shortest of Paulâ€™s letters. It consists of only 25 verses and is the only private letter of Paulâ€™s that has been included in Scripture. It was written about AD 64 from Rome, where Paul was under âœhouse-arrestâ€ Â• took up Acts 28:30-31.Â The letter was written to Philemon, a wealthy Christian who lived in Colosse, and who was a convert of Paulâ€™s. Among his many slaves was one named Onesimus, who it would appear had robbed his master and run away to Rome âœ only to come into touch with Paul. The result of this meeting was that Onesimus became a Christian, confessed his sin and sought Paulâ€™s help in bringing about a reconciliation with Philemon, his former master.
