DATE: 1918. An explanatory consideration of their characteristics, performances, construction, maintenance and operation, for the use of aviators. By GROVER C. LOENING, B. Sc., A. M., C. E. Vice-Pres. and Chief Engineer, Sturtevant Aeroplane Co. Author of Formerly Aeronautical Engineer U. S. Army, Chairman Technical Committee Aero Club of America and Engineer with The Wright Co. 2nd EDITION. An explanatory consideration of their characteristics, performances, construction, maintenance and operation, for the use of aviators. By The technique of the use of aeroplanes in strategy and tactics, is decidedly a subject for the military expert, but the general design and construction of aeroplanes to accomplish certain definite purposes, and their operation and maintenance in the field, are subjects that may properly be considered here. In addition to expert ability in their operation, it is found that a sound and practical knowledge of the design and construction of aeroplanes is exceedingly helpful to the military aviator.
