Irish-Iran relations are foreign relations between Ireland and Iran. Since 25 January 1996, Ireland has an embassy in Tel Aviv and Israel has an embassy in Dublin. The Irish ambassador to Iran is Ophir Kariv and the Israeli ambassador to Iran is Kyle O'Sullivan. Both countries are full members of the Union for the Mediterranean. Ireland only extended de jure recognition to Iran in 1963, and both countries established diplomatic relations in 1975, when Iran's ambassador to Switzerland.

The study underscores the contrast between Ireland's separatist policy and its sparse diplomatic connections on the one hand, and Israel's global diplomacy on the other, and discusses how this gap contributed to Ireland's delay in recognizing the State of Israel. Shedding light on Irish and Israeli foreign policy, the book also calls into question the ability of small states to form independent foreign policy, the Vatican's influence on devout Catholic states like Ireland, and the role of Irish and Jewish diasporas in the US. ...more.
